II. BACKGROUND

Accu-Circuits, Inc. manufactured printed circuit boards for the computer industry. The facility is located at 81 Old Windsor Road in Bloomfield Connecticut. Manufacturing began in mid 1991; the facility ceased operation in October of 1994. The building continues to be occupied by Accu-Circuits, Inc.

The building interior contains approximately 90 uncovered electroplating baths, most of which each contain over 100 gallons of plating chemicals, and approximately 250 containers (55 gallon drums, 30 gallon drums, 5 gallon pails and smaller bottles) of various chemicals associated with the plating industry. Three drums of waste sludge were found near the loading dock. There are at least seven 1500 gallon water treatment vessels inside the building that are partially full.

II. ACTIONS

The PRPs subcontracted the removal of all on-site wastes with Environmental Products and Services, Inc. (EPS) of Stratford, CT. EPS performed pickups of separate waste streams on August 18, September 1, September 8, September 11, and September 20.

On September 28, 1995, the PRPs auctioned off all plating equipment and most office equipment.

The OSC performed a final inspection on October 05, 1995. All waste, product and equipment had been removed from the premises and disposed of at approved facilities. Copies of the hazardous waste manifests have been provided to the OSC.

The PRP will provide copies of final certificates of disposal as they are received. Some office debris remains in the building.

III. FINANCIAL

No extramural funds have been expended. This is a PRP funded action.

IV. FUTURE PLANS

- The certificates of disposal will be included in the site file when they are received by the OSC.
